As a full stack developer student, I help companies create solutions that enhance and facilitate business objectives online.

Using my extensive experience with logistics in the marketing space and the technologies I've learned through the University of Minnesota Bootcamp, I can help your company with:

Front end solutions including HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, React, Javascript, jQuery

API development and integration

Back end solutions using Node.js,

Troubleshooting

Seamless Deployment

I take initiatives to learn new technologies to stay up to date with current digital trends.

I am accountable and a self-starting worker while also being a team player. I am passionate about doing things to the best of my abilities.
